

UNDER CONSTRUCTION

Acacia Avenue to close Feb. 13 at Highland

Access to Highland Avenue from Acacia Avenue in Rialto will be permanently closed for Route 210 construction activity, starting the night of February 13. Drivers can use Baseline, Walnut or Easton as east-west travel routes or Riverside Avenue to connect with eastbound Highland.

Crews will move dirt to fill in sections of Highland Avenue near Acacia that are below grade. Work also will begin to realign Highland north of the future freeway and to build a bridge over the freeway at Highland in this area. Acacia will be formed into a cul de sac at a later date.

Drivers should remember to plan ahead and to be patient during construction of the freeway.

Don't miss Open Houses: Feb. 17, 24

Come learn about upcoming Route 210 construction plans at two community "Open Houses" this month:

- Excavation
- Lane paving
- Bridge construction
- Storm drain systems
- Street improvements
- Construction zone safety
- Sound walls
- Retaining walls

Detour of vehicles from Highland to start Feb. 14

Highland Avenue will close permanently between Ayala Drive and Riverside Avenue in Rialto for construction of Route 210, starting February 14. A detour has been established using Riverside, Ayala, Easton and Baseline.

Westbound motorists will head north on Riverside, south on Ayala and west on Easton. Eastbound drivers will travel south on Ayala, east on Baseline and north on Riverside to connect to Highland. (See map below). Through-traffic headed east on Casmalia Street will not be able to travel beyond Ayala; Casmalia will be accessible only to neighborhood residents.

Closing Highland will allow crews to build a bridge at Cactus Avenue and a pedestrian bridge at Lilac Avenue and to excavate dirt for the new freeway, which will replace Highland Avenue in this area. Drivers should allow extra travel time, follow detour signs and drive carefully through construction zones.
